

The Nose Knows

Ninety percent of what we think of as taste actually involves the sense of smell. By sniffing only, each group attempts to identify different aromas commonly found in wine: apple, eucalyptus, apricot, lemon, cherry, black pepper, etc. Think it's easy? Think again! This team-building event, which requires no alcohol consumption, is a fascinating and enjoyable way to break up a long day of meetings, and can serve as a warm-up to a wine or spirits tasting later in the day.
